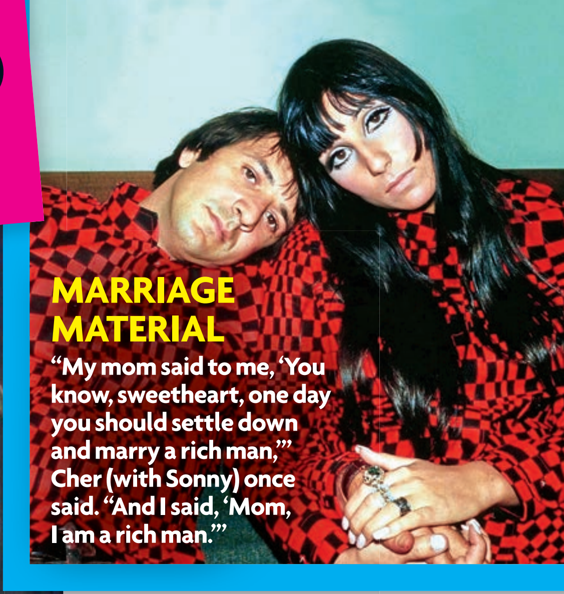
Cher's NEW BLING!

THE SINGER'S NEW BOYFRIEND PRESENTED HER WITH AN ENGAGEMENT RING FOR CHRISTMAS. DOES THIS MEAN MARRIAGE NO. 3?

A.E. ROCKED CHER'S HOLIDAY!



MARRIAGE MATERIAL

"My mom said to me, 'You know, sweetheart, one day you should settle down and marry a rich man,'" Cher (with Sonny) once said. "And I said, 'Mom, I am a rich man.'"

A BEAUTIFUL gift — or the promise of a beautiful future? Cher sparked engagement rumors when she shared a pic of a giant diamond ring from new boyfriend Alex "A.E." Edwards on Christmas day. "THERE R NO WORDS, ALEXANDER, A.E.," the superstar posted. Cher was "astounded" by the bling, an insider tells Star. "It's clearly an engagement ring, over six carats and cost around a quarter of a million dollars."

But the superstar played it coy about whether or not A.E. had popped the question. Hours after her first post, the 76-year-old was back online, pointing viewers to the 36-year-old music producer's green-and-black mani, visible in the pic: "I posted this cause his nails are so cool."

While the Moonstruck star was over the moon, friends hope the pear-shaped bauble was just an extravagant gift, insiders tell Star. Things have moved quickly for the pair — who have pooh-poohed their 40-year age difference — since they were first spotted holding hands in November. "Some are worried this is moving way too fast," says the insider. "This isn't like Cher to get all mushy about a man." (The Oscar winner was previously wed to Sonny Bono from 1964 to 1975 and Gregg Allmann from 1975 to 1979.)

Whether this will result in a third trip down the aisle remains to be seen. "Cher didn't say yes but she didn't say no," adds the insider, adding that the singer will be sure to protect her $360 million fortune. "She's a romantic, but she'll protect her assets!" ★

CHARLES BEGS FOR PEACE

THE KING PLEADS WITH SON WILLIAM TO REMEMBER THAT NO MATTER WHAT HE SAYS, ROGUE ROYAL HARRY IS STILL FAMILY.

Hurt and Angry
"Although he tries to hide it, William is fuming behind the scenes," says an insider.

NO LOVE LOST!

More on the Way
"William is bracing for Harry's memoir — which he assumes will sling more arrows at the royal family," says the insider.

Things are at an all-time low between Prince William and his younger brother, Prince Harry. The trouble started even before Harry, 38, and his wife, Meghan Markle, 41, moved to the States, but their royal-bashing Netflix doc, Harry & Meghan — and Harry's upcoming memoir, Spare — have left the future king livid. Now insiders say the brothers' dad, King Charles III, is pleading with William to mend the rift. "It saddens him immensely that Harry has so much anger and resentment toward the family — it's a matter of huge embarrassment too," an insider tells Star. "But Charles has told William and others that Harry will always be family."

The monarch, 74, is even using the memory of the boys' late mother and grandmother to sway his elder son. "He's tried to get through to William by reminding him how close he and Harry were during their childhood," adds the insider. "This is the last thing Diana or the Queen would have wanted."

So far, William remains unmoved. "He's very angry at Harry — and at Meghan too," says the insider. "What Harry's done is unforgivable in William's eyes. He's taking it as a personal attack." (Indeed, in the much-watched docuseries, Harry alleges that the palace lied to protect William from claims he "bullied" Harry and Meghan out of the royal family.)

While the source says William refuses to watch Harry & Meghan, the 40-year-old won't be able to avoid his brother forever. Word is, despite all the drama, the Duke of Sussex will be invited to Charles' May 6 coronation. "Charles believes that Harry will come around," says the insider. "It may be years, but he won't give up hope." ★

AARON TAYLOR-JOHNSON: JACKED-UP BOND?

It's no secret Bullet Train actor Aaron Taylor-Johnson has his eye on replacing Daniel Craig as the next James Bond. And rumor has it, the 32-year-old Brit impressed producer Barbara Broccoli during a secret screen test in September. Now sources tell Star the Kick-Ass vet is hitting the gym in hopes of out-muscling his competition — literally! "There's a lot of chatter the next films will have more extreme stunts, fighting and action than ever before," says a source. "Aaron is absolutely the most physically fit guy in the conversation right now — especially compared to oft-mentioned hopefuls like Dev Patel and Josh O'Conner." The longtime body-builder is also counting on his action-packed résumé to help seal the deal. "Some of those other guys have never had a fight or fired a gun on camera," adds the source. "Aaron makes them look like pencil-necked geeks!" ★

Daniel has said it's time to "reset" the 007 franchise.

Muscle Memory

"Aaron has been making action movies for 12 years," says a source. "He's good."

Morning People

"Jenna and Carson would be the breath of fresh air GMA needs," says a source.

MAKING THE MOVE?

JENNA & CARSON: WOOED BY GMA

With loved-up cohosts T.J. Holmes and Amy Robach under review in the wake of their affair, producers at Good Morning America are quietly scouting replacements, an insider tells Star. At the top of their list? Today show vets Jenna Bush Hager and Carson Daly. GMA bosses would absolutely love to get them on their team," says the insider. "Jenna is so wholesome and charming and Carson's broadcasting experience and pop-culture knowledge would make him a shoo-in."

Trouble is, the pair — like many in the industry — likely have non-compete clauses in their contracts, prohibiting them from working for a rival show. Still, says the insider, they're "flattered" by the attention. "It would be a step up for Jenna — she's extremely ambitious — and word is Carson's ready for a change. People think he's underrated and underused at Today." ★

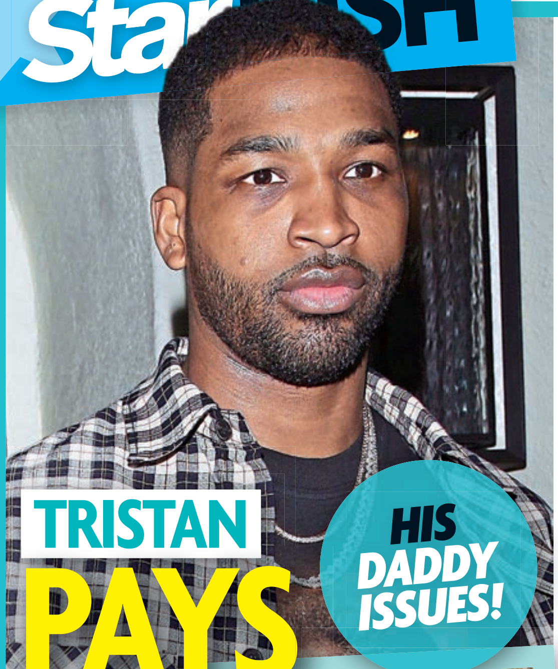
DON'T CALL ME FAT!

After 25 years, Kate Winslet is still upset by body-shamers who blamed her Titanic character Rose's size for (spoiler alert!) Leonardo DiCaprio's Jack not fitting on the floating door that saved her at the end of the flick. "Apparently I was too fat," the 47-year-old said on a recent podcast. "Why were they so mean to me? They were so mean. I wasn't even fking fat." (In fact, the 5-foot-7 actress was a svelte size 6!)

Though she kept mum at the time, Kate wishes she hadn't. "I would have said to journalists... 'Don't you dare treat me like this. I'm a young woman, my body is changing, I'm figuring it out, I'm deeply insecure...' That's bullying, you know, and actually borderline abusive, I would say."

As for that door, director James Cameron has said he is releasing a study in February that proves both Jack and Rose would not have survived by floating on it together! ★

The much-loved Titanic will be re-released in theaters this February.



TRISTAN PAYS UP!

HIS DADDY ISSUES!

Baby on Board

Maralee (with Theo) filed a paternity suit in December 2021.

Fatherhood has a price! A year after their son Theo's birth, Tristan Thompson and Maralee Nichols have reportedly settled her paternity lawsuit. The NBA player, 31, will pay the fitness model $9,700 per month in child support as well as cover some of her legal fees. She retains sole custody.

The former Celtic infamously got Maralee pregnant while he and then-girlfriend Khloé Kardashian were expecting their second child via surrogate. (They also share daughter True, 4.) The scandal played out on Hulu's The Kardashians, where 38-year-old Khloé called the cheating "humiliating."

For his part, the Canada-born athlete seems to have learned his lesson. On Dec. 20, he uploaded a cryptic quote about admitting past mistakes to his Instagram Story. "In life you will face a lot of Circuses," a highlighted passage read. "You will pay for your failures. But, if you persevere, if you let those failures teach you and strengthen you, then you will be prepared to handle life's toughest moments." ★

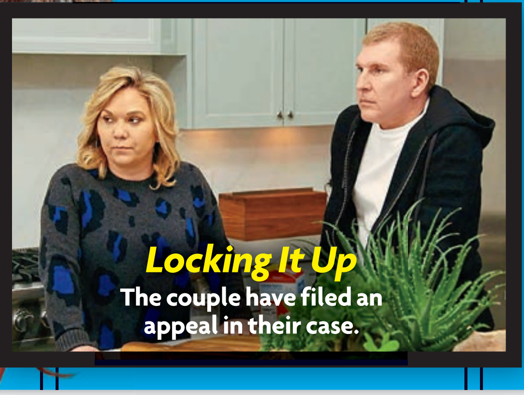
TERESA'S PRISON ADVICE



Locking It Up

The couple have filed an appeal in their case.

Fellow reality star and ex-con Teresa Giudice has some advice for Todd and Julie Chrisley as they head to the pokey. "It's going to be very hard but they have to make the best of it," the 50-year-old told a reporter, urging the Chrisley Knows Best stars, who were convicted of fraud, to "be strong for their children." (Between them, Todd, 53, and 49-year-old Julie have five kids.)

Teresa also revealed how she coped during her own prison stint in 2015. In addition to doing yoga and looking forward to weekly visits from her young daughters, the Real Housewife said "manifesting" got her through her 11-month sentence for fraud, adding that Todd and Julie should "manifest while being in prison what they want when they come out."

They'll have plenty of time. The pair, who were convicted of bank fraud and tax evasion in June after conspiring to defraud financial institutions of more than $30 million in loans, face hefty sentences. Todd was ordered to spend 12 years in lockup, while Julie will serve seven. "For Todd and Julie," an insider tells Star, "day one behind bars will be the start of their countdown to release." ★

Adele HAPPY AT LAST!

Will 2023 bring a wedding and a baby for Adele and Rich?

On track for happily ever after! A source reports that as Adele and Rich Paul head into 2023, they've ironed out the wrinkles in their year-and-a-half relationship and are "in a good place." Per the source, the sports agent, 41, flies to Las Vegas — where the Grammy winner, 34, has a hit residency — a few days a week. "They steal precious time together, and when they're apart they're in constant contact."

They've had some rough patches. Adele donned a sparkler on that finger at the BRIT Awards in February, spurring engagement rumors. But by May, sources buzzed about a breakup after Rich was MIA from the singer's 34th birthday. Then the duo spent the summer enjoying cozy dates and a luxe Italian vacation before the songstress revealed on stage in December she'd "never been in love like this" and was "obsessed" with her man before inviting the Vegas crowd of thousands, to serenade Rich for his birthday. The "Hello" singer gushed, "I love him more than life itself."

The future is looking bright: Adele, who shares 10-year-old son Angelo with ex-husband Simon Konecki, revealed that she "definitely want[s] more kids"; and Rich, a dad of three, agreed that he's "looking forward" to the prospect of fatherhood all over again. Says the source: "Things are going so great between them, their friends think 2023 could be the year they make it happen." ★

BABY MAKES THREE

Just one month after making her romance with musician Derek Richard Thomas Insta-official, Rumer Willis, 34, had some bigger news: She's expecting a baby! "The pregnancy came as a happy surprise to Rumer and Derek both," says a source. "They'd only been dating a few months when they found out, but they're looking at this as a blessing." The source adds that Rumer's famous family is overjoyed to meet the new arrival — the first grandchild for exes Bruce Willis and Demi Moore. The news is bittersweet for Bruce, 67, who retired from acting after being diagnosed with the neurological disorder aphasia. "He's been struggling," reveals the source. "But he knows he wants to be here to meet his first grandchild. He's holding on and his whole family is helping him." ★

Leo's LATEST FLAME

On to the next? Leonardo DiCaprio is reportedly romancing Victoria Lamas, just weeks after his casual coupling with Gigi Hadid fizzled out. A Star source says the 23-year-old, daughter of actor Lorenzo Lamas and former Playboy Playmate Shauna Sand, "is just Leo's type, young, pretty and fun." A recent L.A. date — after which the flirty twosome drove off together — "is raising a lot of eyebrows," says the source. But the 48-year-old Leo, who ended his four-year relationship with Camila Morrone in August, "isn't looking for anything serious and Victoria's OK with that. She's flattered." ★

An insider says Victoria's Instagram piqued Leo's interest and he "pulled some strings" to meet her.

"It's a growth experience for them," says a source of Jason and Melanie's costarring habit.

The couple that costars together stays together! Melanie Lynskey and hubby Jason Ritter, who shared the screen in Hulu's Candy in 2022, are gearing up for yet another costarring stint in Melanie's hit series, Yellowjackets. While she's kept mum on his role on the Showtime drama, Melanie, 45, revealed in June that her hubby of two years, 42, would "do anything" to star alongside her on the survival series. The pair previously teamed up in 2013's The Big Ask, 2014's We'll Never Have Paris and 2016's The Intervention. "They really enjoy the process of going to work together and talking about it afterward," says a source of the parents of one. Britney IN CRIS

SHE’S BEEN POSTING BIZARRE VIDEOS ONLINE AND HASN’T BEEN SEEN IN PUBLIC IN MONTHS. IS BRITNEY SPEARS ON THE VERGE OF ANOTHER BREAKDOWN?

Falling Apart
A source says Britney's conservatorship has left "long-lasting psychological trauma."

BRITNEY SPEARS made quite a splash when she returned to Instagram on Dec. 9 following a three-day hiatus. In a video clip set to the song "Santa Baby" by Eartha Kitt, the pop star danced suggestively while wearing a skintight red jumpsuit. At one point, she flashed the middle finger to the camera before sticking her face into a cake and rubbing vanilla frosting on her body. "Is it a little awkward or weird to watch ???" she wrote in the bizarre post, adding that her goals for the coming year are to attend a wedding, "sing a song or two and fall down eight times."

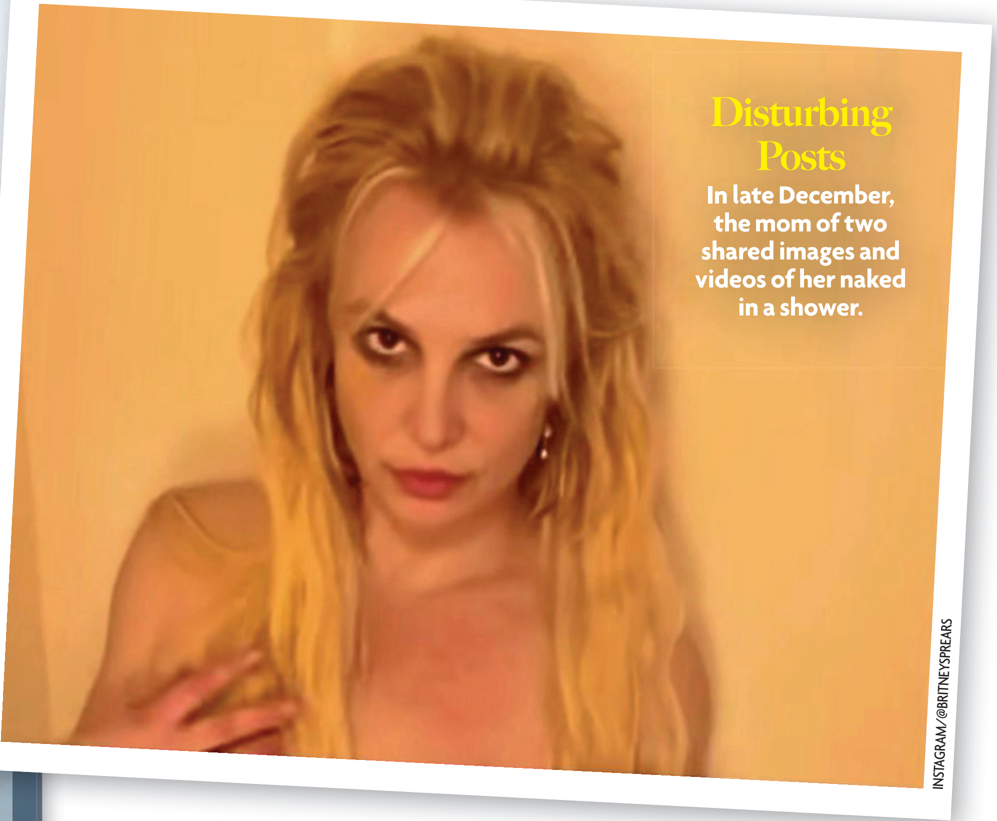
Fans are understandably worried about the 41-year-old. Since being freed from her nearly 14-year conservatorship in November 2021, the "Toxic" singer has experienced a series of highs and lows, including her June marriage to model and budding actor Sam Asghari, 28, and the miscarriage she suffered a month before their wedding. Far from being the uncaged bird imagined by the #FreeBritney movement, she continues to chronicle the emotional pain and abuse she says she suffered at the hands of her father, Jamie, and mother, Lynne, via social media — and hasn't been seen in public in four months. "Everyone was so happy for Britney when she was freed from her conservatorship, but her behavior has become more erratic ever since," a source tells Star. "The people around her feel helpless because she's so unstable."

TROUBLING BEHAVIOR

During her conservatorship, every aspect of Britney's life was monitored 24/7. Now that she's in charge, there's concern that she's stopped taking medication she once used to manage bipolar disorder. "By her own admission, Britney's struggled with mental illness," says the source. "People are worried she's gone off her meds. There's fear that she's not getting the help she so clearly needs." It doesn't help, according to the source, that the singer — who shares sons Sean, 16, and Jayden, 15, with ex-husband Kevin Federline — is surrounded by "yes" people: "Britney is unable to control her impulses — it's like she's steering a runaway train that went off the tracks."

Despite her vivid presence on social media, Brit's long absence from public view prompted some to fear the worst. Fans who had been tracking her posts believed someone had taken over her account and was pretending to be her, theorizing that the former Mouseketeer was either dead or in a treatment facility!

Britney herself plays into the conspiracies. On Dec. 12, she shared a video in which she and Sam appeared to be on board a private jet with a caption reading: "New York City here I come!!" ▷



Disturbing Posts
In late December, the mom of two shared images and videos of her naked in a shower.

INSTAGRAM/@BRITNEYSPEARS

Hidden Away

A source says Britney spends most of her time holed up inside her new 11,650-square-foot spread in Calabasas, aside from the rare top-secret trip.

but paparazzi photos of Britney and Sam's secret trip to the Big Apple never surfaced, causing some to speculate she'd actually detoured to Mexico. "Britney's main intention was to throw the photographers off the scent," explains the source. "She's anxious about being followed." Keeping her whereabouts secret, adds the source, "is a game to her."

In fact, Britney spends most of her time holed up in her $11.8 million L.A. mansion. (She and Sam moved in shortly after their summer wedding.) "She's up late every night dancing around her bedroom and taking videos," says the source, adding that the Louisiana native often sleeps until well past noon and doesn't follow any regular day-to-day routines. "She eats when and what she wants and walks around the house half-naked. It makes the staff uncomfortable, but they just avert their eyes and go on about their business."

HISTORY REPEATING?

With such an erratic lifestyle, there's talk Britney could be in serious danger of having another meltdown. In 2007, she famously shaved her head and attacked paparazzi with an umbrella and was placed on a 5150 hold; in early 2008, she was subjected to an involuntary mental evaluation after she locked herself in her bathroom with Jayden and refused to come out. "She's showing signs that she's out of control again," worries the source. "She's adrift in a world that doesn't have anything to do with reality."

No wonder: She's still processing the trauma from her time in the conservatorship, which she calls an "abusive" situation. "It was pure abuse. And I haven't even really shared half of it," she said in an August video, adding that she was called fat every day by her dad and his team. She previously said she was forced to have a birth control device inserted and had her every move scrutinized. "Britney's still in shock over what she went through and how she was treated," says the source. "She had no control of her life or her body. She's in a lot of pain — and that may never go away."

Better or Worse

"Sam's been Britney's biggest supporter," says a source. "He knows she's still suffering."

ACTING ERRATIC

STRANGE PHOTOS

In November, Brit shared a series of pics in which she's wearing the same gown and veil, freaking out fans. "Is this lady still alive?" asked one commenter.

PRAISES ESTRANGED SISTER

Fans were also alarmed when Britney posted a shot of her younger sister, Jamie Lynn — who she once called "scum" — wishing her well on her new show, Special Forces.

QUITS INSTAGRAM

Sam addressed concerns over his wife's puzzling social media absence on Dec. 8. "Sometimes it's good to take a break," he wrote.

OLIVE BRANCH TO LYNNE?

Mommy Dearest

In October, Lynne expressed regret over her treatment of Britney. "I have been sorry for years!" she said.

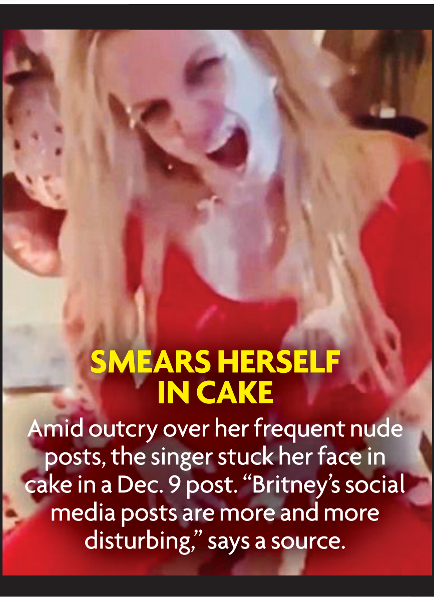
During a recent trip to Mexico, Britney Spears reached out to her estranged mother, Lynne, on Instagram. Freed from the onerous restrictions of her conservatorship — including a ban on alcohol and any stimulants — she had a proposition for the 67-year-old. "After no coffee for 15 years… Mom we can go have coffee together now !!! I'm treated as an equal … let's have coffee and talk about it !!!" she wrote. The mother-daughter duo have been exchanging messages online for months, with Lynne posting that she has text proof that she responded to Britney's cries for help from a treatment facility in 2019, despite Britney's claims to the contrary.

Some questioned whether Britney was being sincere or throwing shade, since she accused Lynne of hiding coffee from her after Lynne issued a public apology to Britney. "Britney meant what she said, she'd like to meet with her mom — but if and when they do meet, Britney's going to make sure she has the upper hand," says the source. "She still harbors a ton of anger and resentment toward her."

WHERE'S SAM?

All this puts her husband in a tricky position. "He encourages Britney to speak out, " says the source. "But he's not intervening the way people would like him to because he fears she'll turn on him — he figures he'll just watch over her to make sure she doesn't fall on her face."

He may be all she has. While the pop princess recently appeared to be willing to make up with her mom (see box), the same can't be said for her relationship with her father. In court documents from January, Britney accused him of stealing $6 million from her — and the source says she's hell-bent on making him pay. "There's little chance she'll get the money back because Jamie doesn't have it," says the source, "but she'll make sure he answers to the charges. She wants Jamie to suffer the consequences and rot in jail." ★



SMEARS HERSELF IN CAKE

Amid outcry over her frequent nude posts, the singer stuck her face in cake in a Dec. 9 post. "Britney's social media posts are more and more disturbing," says a source.

JETS OFF TO NYC

A source says Britney often goes off on secret trips with Sam. "She's very anxious about being followed," says the source. "By throwing out misleading statements, she feels she's buying time for her and Sam to be completely alone."

NAKED IN MEXICO

On Dec. 24, Brit posted a video showing her holding her breasts in a shower. "She's unstable," says a source.

THE COLLEGE SWEETHEARTS WEATHERED A ROCKY START AND FAMILY TRAGEDY — AND CAME OUT THE OTHER SIDE.

Rocky Start

Caroline has husband Luke "under her spell," says an insider. Luke says their breakups early in their relationship left them both "devastated."

COUNTRY star Luke Bryan and his wife Caroline's sweet posts to each other celebrating their wedding anniversary Dec. 8 said it all. "16 years ago we had zero clue what we were stepping into," Caroline wrote. "The good, the bad, the silly moments and stupid arguments. It's been worth it all." As if to prove her point, Luke, 46, posted a snap of himself in shades and a mullet with his arm wrapped around his 42-year-old wife, writing, "Thank you for putting up with all my craziness I throw your way. I've loved you since the second I saw you. It's truly remarkable what we've done together."

From breakups and make-ups, lean early years, triumphs and unthinkable tragedies, Luke and Caroline have persevered. "They could write the book on marriage and how to keep it from imploding," an insider tells Star. "They've thought long and hard about their lives and concluded they're in this together."

MEET-CUTE

The American Idol judge met his future wife — where else — in a bar, as students at Georgia Southern University. While they hit it off, their romance was on-and-off for years and seemed kaput after Luke graduated and decided to try his luck as a musician. "We were apart for five and a half years, which was kind of a blessing because I went off to Nashville, got all this going," the "Country On" singer reflected a few years ago. Meanwhile, Caroline graduated and started her own career. Which turned out to be a good thing: By the time they wed in 2006, Luke was still struggling to find his feet. "When we married, her career supported me when I was making about $10,000 a year," he's said. "She was the one bringing in the dough."

As the singer's star began to rise, however, tragedy struck. In 2007, Luke, who had already lost his brother, Chris, in a car accident, learned that his sister, Kelly, had suddenly died. Seven years later, Kelly's widower, Ben Lee Cheshire, also passed away from a heart attack. The parents of Thomas, 14, and Tatum, 12, took in their nephew, Til, 21, and nieces Jordan, 27, and Kris, 24. "We never thought twice about it," Caroline later said. "You know, it was never something that he and I had to sit down and talk about. 'Should we take this on?' We just did that." Says the insider, "Caroline is a total rock for Luke. She held his hand tight during the toughest of times, they got through each day by relying on their faith and leaning on each other."

LONG-DISTANCE LOVE

Even if Luke's demanding work schedule means lots of time apart. Luke, who's joked that both of his sons were conceived on his tour bus ("Hell yeah!"), FaceTimes with Caroline and the kids — and knows how to keep the spark alive. "He'll send romantic gestures like flowers and cute notes via Instagram," notes the insider. "He'll always check in right before bed, and they generally plan a special date night right when he gets back."

When she can get away, Caroline will also surprise her husband on the road. Not that she's checking up on him! "Caroline knew that women were lining up for Luke but she always trusted him to do the right thing and honor her when she wasn't there," adds the insider. "And he does."

Now that the ACM Award–winning artist has settled in to his Las Vegas residency, the pair is enjoying some stability in their busy family life. "It's been lonely for Caroline at times," says the insider. "But they got through. They're just a great team." ★

SHORTCUT TO FAME!

NEPO BABIES — KIDS WITH FAMOUS PARENTS — ARE BEING CALLED OUT FOR TAKING THE EASY WAY TO THE TOP.

WHEN Deacon Phillippe wanted to have a go at acting, he had a real in. The son of Ryan Phillippe and Reese Witherspoon was tapped by Mindy Kaling, who has been working on a script for Reese's upcoming Legally Blonde 3 movie, for a role on her hit Netflix series, Never Have I Ever. "He's obviously so talented and he's great-looking, and we just thought he would be great and he was excited to come and do it," Mindy later explained. "He's just such a well-raised kid."

Well-connected too. Deacon, along with such up-and-comers as Kaia Gerber, Zoë Kravitz, Margaret Qualley, and Patrick Schwarzenegger, and many more have recently come under fire as "nepo babies," whose success is more about their parents than themselves. "For some people in Hollywood, celebrity status was hard won," an insider tells Star. "But for stars' kids who also become stars, it was inherited."

GENETICALLY BLESSED

Of course, when you're a mini-me of your supermodel mom like Kaia — or Heidi Klum's daughter, Leni — it's not a stretch that you'd follow in her catwalking footsteps. Lily Rose Depp even inherited her mom Vanessa Paradis' gig at French fashion house Chanel (her dad is Johnny Depp). Yet the 23-year-old, who at 5-foot-3 is on the short side for a top model, insists she has succeeded by her own merits. "The internet cares a lot more about who your family is than the people casting you in things," she griped to Elle. "Maybe you get your foot in the door, but you still just have your foot in the door."

Sometimes, says the insider, casting directors feel pressured to favor famous offspring, regardless of talent. "Some casting directors roll their eyes when a celeb wants their progeny in a project but their hands are tied," notes the insider. "Casting directors are just the hired help in these circumstances." The insider recalls times when kids "actually stunk, but they got the part because of their name."

TALENT SCOUTED

The flip side can cause a bit of imposter syndrome in these born-on-third-base kids. Zoë (mom: Lisa Bonet; dad Lenny Kravitz) has said she felt "deep insecurity" about her success in such projects as Big Little Lies. And Madonna's daughter Lourdes Leon has talked about struggling with her mom's fame. "I want to feel like I deserve things and not just like I've been given things," she's said. "And there's undeniable privilege that I'd be stupid to not realize." Still, she hopes she's better than the average spoiled celeb kid. "Nepotism babies are pretty awful usually," she went on. "And my mom and my father raised me to be so much smarter than that."

She's not alone. "Some nepo kids are actually humble and pleasant to work with," shares the insider. "Some have real talent — look at Deacon Phillippe, Jack Quaid, Margaret Qualley — but they still wouldn't have gotten this far so fast if their parents weren't famous."

Which leaves some nepo babies feeling they have something to prove. O'Shea Jackson, who played his dad, Ice-T, in Straight Outta Compton, appreciated the break but said, "After that it was up to me, he couldn't hold my hand through my career. I had to get my a up and make it work." ★

Fame Game

Zoë has argued that "it's completely normal for people to be in the family business." Kaia's striking resemblance to her model mom certainly boosted her career, while Deacon directly benefited from his mother's showbiz connections.

Things got so heated when NPR podcast host Terry Gross tried to show a clip of the 39-year-old singing in 2019's Marriage Story that Adam walked out of the studio! Star PARTING SHOT

SNOW MUCH FUN!

Horsing Around

Aspen, Colo., Dec. 21

Saddle up! Kate Hudson and future sister-in-law Sara Foster attended the annual St. Regis World Snow Polo Championship at Rio Grande Park. Every year, the Glass Onion: A Knives Out Mystery star, who's engaged to Sara's stepbrother, musician Danny Fujikawa, spends the holidays with her extended family in Colorado, where mom Goldie Hawn and stepdad Kurt Russell own a lodge called Home Run Ranch in Snowmass Village. "There's something, for me, about being in the mountains. The family time we have up here is more plentiful," Kate's said. "Slowing things down and simplifying — it's really important to our spirit."
